

Barbara Moore Bio

Barbara Moore is one of the seemingly few technical people who can make computers and how to use them easy to understand. She believes computers should be fun and useful for anyone and takes much of the anxiety and mystery out of the PC. Barbara is an accredited college instructor for business and computer classes. She has taught computer subjects to corporations, colleges, and individuals from 15 to 90 yrs old. She also has a keen interest in digital photography and tracing genealogy - both by hand and via computer. Bring your questions and get real answers in simple, straightforward language.
